COURT ORDERS HUBBY TO PAY WIFE $3 WEEK

SALARY IS ONLY $24 A WEEK
AND WIFE ASKS SUPPORT FOR TWO CHILDREN

ST. ANNE COUPLE

Beckman Will Case Under Advisement: Shiloh Church
Fight Up Next Week

A husband who earns only $24 a week and who is encumbered with debts was ordered to pay his wife $3 a week for the support of their two minor children by Judge Frederick Hill of Joliet in the local circuit court late yesterday.

The wife, Mrs. Ruby Vaillancourt of St. Anne, brought suit asking that her husband, Wilfred, be compelled to pay $10 a week for the support of the children. After Vaillancourt presented the amount of salary which he receives and the amount which he has paid for the support of the children, the court decided that the maximum which he could possibly pay for the support of the children is three dollars.

The suit is expected to be preliminary to a divorce action which will be heard at the October term of court. The couple were married on Dec. 31, 1920, and separated on June 14 of this year. The children are Laila, 8, and Noralee, 5. It was alleged at the hearing that the cause of the family trouble and separation was a social disease contracted by Vaillancourt. The husband is said to have admitted that he suffered from the disease, but denies that he knows the source of contagion. The wife also admitted that she did not know the source and also charged that the disease was contracted by one of the children. Attorney L. N. Legris appeared for the wife.

Hearing of evidence in the bill to construe the will of the late Henry Beckman was concluded before Judge Hill yesterday afternoon and was taken under advisement.

Next Tuesday has been tentatively set as the date for hearing in the case for an injunction against the pastor and certain trustees of the Shiloh Baptist (colored) church. A dispute which broke out among the members of the congregation nearly two years ago has revived. At a previous trial the petition of foes of the Rev. W. A. Robinson to oust him as pastor was denied and the counter-claim of Robinson's friends to sell the church property was also rejected.

Circuit Judge A. W. DeSelm of this city declined to hear the Shiloh church case because of his "interest" in the matter. The judge explained today that the "interest" consists of the fact that his laundress is a member of one of the factions in the dispute.

The loot was recovered, but it was found that the car which the boys used had been stolen in Chicago."

COURT HOUSE CAT NOW HAS A RIVAL

Tom, the court house cat owned by Fred Keene, has a rival for the interest of the court house officials and employees. For a number of years Tom has reigned supreme and successfully defended his domain against encroachment.

Tom's rival is a cricket which has taken refuge in the elevator shaft. W. O. Hixson, the elevator operator, discovered the cricket about three weeks ago. The insect is usually quiet, but chirps merrily whenever the elevator is put into motion and entertains the passengers on their ups and downs.

Tom has sensed the presence of his new rival but to date has been unable to locate his hiding place. If Tom finds the cricket a murder will probably ensue for Tom is known far and wide as the fighting kitty that ever tackled an engaged bulldog.

Officers To Get Fleagle —Reward Within Few Days

Colorado Springs, Col., July 16.—(Special)—Division of approximately $14,000 in rewards which were offered by various interested agencies in the Lamar bank robbery case will be an aftermath of the execution of Ralph Fleagle, gray-haired leader of the pack, and his two condemned partners, Howard L. Royston and George J. Abshire, who are to die at the state prison in Canon City next Thursday or Friday, it was announced yesterday.

Chief Hugh D. Harper of the police department, who directed the international manhunt that resulted in the capture of three members of the Fleagle gang, and Sheriff L. E. Alderman of Lamar, co-leader, the two officers most responsible for the successful solution of the case, are not entitled to receive a penny of the rewards. This is under an agreement entered into between Chief Harper and Sheriff Alderman at the start of the manhunt.

There still is $4,000 in rewards outstanding for the arrest and conviction of Jake H. Fleagle, jr., gunman of the Lamar gang, who alone of the pack is at liberty. That amount is in addition to the $14,000 that is due to be divided for the capture and conviction of the other three members of the Fleagle gang.

First Offered $44,000

When the manhunt first began, rewards totaling $44,000 were offered—the largest in the history of the middlewest—for information, the arrest and conviction, of the members of the gang, and for the recovery of the $197,000 worth of industrial and Liberty bonds stolen in the robbery. Upon the arrest of Ralph Fleagle and two of his companions, they united in stating that all but a few thousands dollars' worth of Liberty Bonds had been burned because they were too dangerous to handle. Hence, the First National bank at Lamar received reissues of the industrial bonds and the rewards for their recovery were withdrawn. There was no recovery of the bonds, as the only negotiable ones—the nonregistered Liberty bonds—had been disposed of by the two Fleagles, Ralph and Jake.

Fifty per cent of the rewards for persons to be paid to those who gave information leading to the arrest and conviction and the 50 per cent to the officers who actually made the arrests.

Those who are due to receive the biggest slice of the money are Chief

CUSTER PARK GRAVE YIELDS NEW HISTORY

PRIESTS' OR TRADERS'
SKULLS UNEARTHED BY ROY H. MOSELEY

TAKEN TO CHICAGO

St. Louis University Historian
Says They Look Like Relics
Of Missionaries

That the bones of two men discovered three weeks ago by Roy H. Moseley at Custer Park have an especial historical significance of early pioneer life on the Kankakee river seems evident as the result of scientific examination. Pictures of the relics together with the following article, were contained in this morning's edition of a Chicago newspaper.

At a bend in the Kankakee river near Custer Park, Ill., where the Pottawatomie captures burned in the days when Chicago was yet a wilderness, a strange find was unearthed three weeks ago. Roy H. Moseley, a workman engaged in spading up the soil, which consists of valuable deposits of core sand, useful for steel foundries. Interrupted the last long sleep of two men whose graves were made there, probably from 200 to 250 years ago.

Several objects, some of religious significance, found in one of the graves convinced Moseley and Frank Peterson, owner of the property, that they had come on the last resting place of one of the early missionaries.

Silver Crucifix

The religious relics include three crosses and one crucifix, apparently of silver. Others, some perhaps Indian tribal signs, included a crescent-shaped silver ornament with the rude carving of a fox and a tiny silver beaver. Other relics were two large silver or pewter circular ornaments of buckles, to one of which, under a microscope, a strand of rough homespun is seen attached; a corroded iron buckle and a number of metal rings that may have been cloth covered buttons.

All the bones, except the skulls, had disintegrated. One of the latter is in an excellent state of preservation.

OIL ON CONCRETE HIGHWAYS SOURCE OF GREAT DANGER

County Superintendent of Highways August C. Radeke has received notice from Frank T. Sheets, chief engineer of the state department of highways, that townships, cities and villages will no longer be permitted to oil shoulders of state concrete roads, or oil streets and roads leading onto concrete highways, without special permit from the state.

There are two reasons for this decision, according to Mr. Radeke. One is that concrete pavements are rendered unsightly by the tracking of oil from side roads or shoulders of highways by cars coming off those roads. The most serious objection, however, is that the pavements are rendered slippery by this oil and many serious accidents have resulted from this cause.

Dirt roads, recently oiled, may be sprinkled with sand, light gravel or covering material for a sufficient distance back from the pavement to eliminate tracking of the oil upon the concrete.

Any township village or city officers in the county who may contemplate oiling of roads or streets leading onto state highways should communicate with Mr. Radeke before so doing.

Proclamation

To the People of Kankakee

Whereas, the Kankakee Branch of the Salvation Army is in need of additional funds to make up the deficit in its budget and carry on its worth while work, and inasmuch as so many of the populace of our Community benefit directly and indirectly from the service it renders, which is so generously, efficiently, and indiscriminately administered, and in view of the distressing economic conditions which have brought about much unemployment, and consequently much need, I, Louis Beckman, as Mayor of the City of Kankakee, unhesitatingly proclaim Saturday, July 19, 1930, as a Tag Day for the purpose of giving our Citizens an opportunity to share in this meritorious work and command this Appeal to the kind consideration and generous support it deserves.

Signed, LOUIS BECKMAN,
Mayor City of Kankakee

CHIEF OF POLICE MAKES STATEMENT ON "CRIME WAVE"

The following statement regarding the crime wave which seems to be invading the entire country was made this morning by John Stack, chief of the Kankakee Police Department:

"You have only to read your daily papers to learn that a great crime wave is sweeping our country. A great part of which I believe is due to unemployment. Furthermore the war on crime in Chicago is forcing the criminals out of that city into the other run-arounds. This wave of crime does not confine itself to the large cities, but stretches out to the small cities, and our city has had its share of low-vitels, who have kept the police busy, both day and night.

"To combat this condition and protect our lives and property, the police must have the cooperation of the law-abiding public.

"I would suggest that all crimes be reported promptly to police headquarters, and that you call the attention of the police to all suspicious characters, with whom you come in contact. Those who make a practice of renting rooms in their homes to strangers, should learn something of the character of these renters before allowing them to enter their homes.

"Before leaving your home, be sure that your windows and doors are securely locked. We have received reports of homes being burglarized while the family sat on the front porch. The guilty parties entering through a rear door or window, which have been left unlocked.

"By taking such precautions as these, the public can aid materially in stemming the tide of criminal activities in our city."

SPEILBERGER HOUSE ALSO IS ENTERED

HOME ON SOUTH GREENWOOD AVENUE LOOTED WHILE FAMILY IS AWAY

ALVEYS STILL HELD

Timothy Alvey Admits Alleged Theft, Police Say; Wants To Shield Brother

The home of Harry Spielberger, 708 South Greenwood avenue, has been burglarized during the past several days, according to a report filed at police headquarters at 7:10 o'clock last evening. Mr. Spielberger is a department manager of the Chicago store.

The report states that the thief or thieves entered the house by breaking a glass in a basement window. The home was thoroughly ransacked but what articles were taken is not known as Mr. and Mrs. Spielberger are away from Kankakee on a visit. The burglars apparently knew that the family was not at home and seized the opportunity to go through the house.

Timothy Alvey, 662 West Merchant street, who with his brother, Fred, 444 North East avenue, was arrested Sunday afternoon by Chief John Stack and Detectives Ed Imming on a charge of burglarizing the Frank Miller store on West avenue, is said to have admitted the alleged crime, according to the police.

Timothy, however, claims that his brother did not take part in the alleged robbery, but remained outside in the car. The brother tells the same story, it is claimed. Police believe that Timothy, who is under parole from the Pontiac reformatory, believes that he will be sent back to the institution and is trying to take the "rap" for his brother.

The alleged robbery occurred after one of the brothers had called at the store, wishing to buy some fishing gear, but the sale was not completed as Mr. Miller did not have change for the $10 bill which was offered. Not liking the looks of his visitor, Mr. Miller locked the front door of his store and went to his living quarters upstairs. He neglected to lock the rear door and a little later, as he looked out of the window, he saw two men leaving from the rear.

He called the police and a few minutes later the two brothers were arrested. It is claimed that they had several casting rods, a reel, pocket knives, and other articles stolen from the store in their possession. Both are still being held in the city jail.

The three Joliet youths, arrested Monday night by Officers Henry Endres and C. F. Mathy at the Hamann garage on East Court street on charges of disorderly conduct and drunkenness, appeared in the police court last evening and were fined. Brogalo and Bruno Gervasi were each fined $100 and costs. Henry Gervasi, Sr., who was charged with stealing some oil from the garage, was fined $200 and costs. The latter paid his fine this morning and was released. The other two are still in jail.

At first, it was believed by the police that these three men were the same trio in a Ford sedan who on the morning of Sunday, June 29, held up and robbed C. H. Sterling, proprietor of the Green Lantern restaurant, just north of Kankakee on route 49. About $80 was taken from Mr. Sterling.

At the request of Chief Stack, Mr. Sterling appeared at police headquarters last evening and viewed the three men, who had a Ford sedan in their possession, but failed to identify them as the bandits.

"The Age of Youth,, Or A Story of A Love Gamble

The story of a love gamble in which an ultra-modern girl gave a rich society man herself as security for a two-year loan of $25,000 with which to finance her campaign for a rich husband whom she must love, will start in this newspaper Friday, July 18.

Donna Raynor, beautiful show girl failing to make a living in New York, believes she can find happiness by marrying a wealthy man. Convinced that she can meet the right man if she has money enough to work her way into society, she appeals to Randolph Granby, a rich bachelor, who gives her $25,000 with the understanding that she is to go away with him if her marriage plans are not successful in two years.

Soon, to her backer's amazement, the girl is actually in the smart set. Frank Gardner, the greatest catch in America, is madly in love with her. Gardner drinks, and while intoxicated one evening insults Donna, attacks Granby—taking an unfair advantage of him—and gives him a severe beating.

Donna determines to get revenge. But can she? The gossip is busy. Already "Chit-Chat," a scandal-sheet, has tried to blackmail her by threatening to publish an ugly "story" about her ordinary origin and her relations with Granby. She has an inspiration. Why not win Frank Gardner—become engaged to him? His name will protect her—render her invulnerable to attack. Why not use him for a time—until the scandal mongers are silent—then calmly drop him?

Almost instantly Gardner proposes, and Donna accepts him. Granby is still in bed suffering from the effects of his battle with Gardner. Donna telephones him. He asks her to come to his apartment. Wondering what he will say to her, what he will do, if he will threaten to tell Gardner everything, she goes.

Her reception surprises Donna. Like the splendid gentleman he is, Granby discusses the engagement, advises the girl how to conduct herself, and finally offers to give her $200,000—so that Gardner will never be aware of her peculiar financial condition!

Unexpectedly Gardner arrives. "I've got to talk to you," he tells Granby. "It's about Donna. I've heard stories." Donna can no longer evade the situation. She decides to face it with all the courage she can muster. Gardner demands explanations. Donna declines to make them. He leaves her with Granby, giving her a half hour to consummate her business with him. If she fails to join him at the end of that time Gardner will know that the engagement "is off."

Donna toys with Granby's affections, teases, torments. . . . The thirty minutes go by. Granby leaps to his feet, crosses to the door, locks it and puts the key in his pocket. She is love's prisoner. . . . but quite willingly Granby asks her to marry him. Smiling, she says: "It's taken me forty-two minutes to do what you should have done weeks and weeks and weeks ago."

BIG FOUR TRAIN HITS TRUCK AND BADLY WRECKED

Livingston, Ill., July 16.—(P)—A Big Four passenger train, Cleveland to St. Louis, was derailed three miles southwest of here at 8 a. m. today when it collided at a crossing with a produce truck. The engine and seven coaches overturned injuring three persons, two seriously.

Passengers in the steel coaches were only shaken up, some receiving minor bruises.

Michael Locucc, of Decatur, the truck driver, probably was the most seriously injured. Engineer John P. Francis, Mattoon, Ill., suffered a crushed chest, and F. R. Buck, a mail clerk, was injured and taken to a Hillsboro hospital. Fireman C. F. Kirkpatrick escaped unhurt.

Francis was taken to a hospital at Hillsboro and later returned to a Mattoon hospital.

Two mail cars and five passenger coaches left the rails. The four Pullman cars on the rear of the train remained on the tracks and were rerouted through Alton later today.

The wreck tore up 200 to 300 yards of tracks.

Both Francis and his fireman remained in the cab of the engine when it overturned and were able to extricate themselves.

After striking the truck and knocking it off the crossing, the front wheels of the locomotive left the rails but did not overturn until it went several hundred yards on down the right-of-way. Francis said he applied the brakes immediately after the collision.

The truck driver said he did not hear a warning whistle and was not aware of the presence of the train until it hit him. Kenny Shellabarger of Decatur, who was riding with him, suffered a wrenched back.

Tree-Sitting Marathon to Start Here

Several children residing in the 200 block on South Wildwood avenue plan to start an endurance tree-sitting contest this evening in the back yard of the home of Mrs. Josephine Cahill at 229 South Wildwood avenue this evening. The Kankakee youngsters are out to beat the record of Jimmie Clemons of Racine, Wis., who established a record of 36 hours and ten minutes on July 10.

They will start their tree-sitting marathon, of course, if their parents do not intervene at 7 o'clock. They plan to finance this contest with admissions collected from spectators. Arrangements for "refueling" with food and water were under way today.

ELEVEN BOYS UP A TREE

East St. Louis, Ill., July 16.—(P)—Eleven boys were perched in six trees here today, each after a "tree sitting record."

Clarence Smith, Jr., and Arthur A. Quick, 16, have been in a tree since 10 p. m. last Thursday and are far out in front of the others.

ALBERT FROELICH AWARDED WRIT IN IROQUOIS COUNTY

Judge Frank L. Hooper sitting in the circuit court at Watseka has awarded the writ of mandamus in the case of Albert Froelich et al. versus various officers of the town of Danforth in Iroquois county, according to a letter received by Burns & Burns, attorneys for Mr. Froelich.

Several years ago the town of Danforth engaged in the project of building a cement and concrete roadway east and west along the entire extent of the township, a distance of 12 miles running through the village of Danforth, the county furnishing one-half of the money. Danforth township raised about $120,000 by taxation and bond issue to pay its share of the cost after an election authorizing the building of this particular road at this particular place.

The construction of the road was begun at the east end of the township and all of the road was actually constructed except the last mile westward, and this last mile has never been built because, as the township officials allege, there was not sufficient funds.

Albert Froelich and others owning lands along this mile of road which was never constructed brought this suit. They alleged that about $9,000 was left over after the completion of the 11 miles of road and that this money should have been used on the twelfth mile which was never built, but that instead it was diverted to the road and bridge fund of the township, contrary to the mandate of the people of Danforth township at the election held for that purpose.

Mr. Froelich and the other petitioners asked that this money be restored to the Hard Road Fund and that the township officers secure the cooperation of the county of Iroquois which by resolution of the board of supervisors has a standing offer to duplicate any expenditures by any township, for hard roads, that is, a resolution that it will pay one-half of the cost. Attorneys Morris and South of Watseka represented the township officers.

LINDY AND TUNNEY NAMED IN WILL BUT WILL RECEIVE NOTHING

New York, July 16.—(P)—Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh and Gene Tunney, former heavyweight champion, were named in the will of Wylie P. Jamieson, filed here today for probate, but the $20,000 which they were to have divided under certain conditions will go to another beneficiary.

The testament provided that if Mr. Jamieson's son, Wylie B. M. Jamieson, of Memphis, Tenn., should die before his father, the $20,000 should go to Lindbergh and Tunney, but the boy, who is now nine, survives his father and therefore will receive the money.

FIRE ENDANGERS FIELD OF WHEAT

Quick work on the part of the Kankakee Fire Department no doubt saved an entire field of ripe wheat on the farm of Ida Perry on Bourbonnais road, just north of Kankakee.

The fire call came in at 2:30 o'clock and was answered by one company of the Fire Department which worked with hand pumps and the chemical machine to subdue the flames. It is believed that the fire was started from a pile of burning Canada thistle nearby. About one and one-half acres of the wheat were burned.

Mrs. Frank Beauregard and her daughter Mrs. B. C. Madison of Manteno were shoppers here yesterday.

FORESIGHT—an essential of statesmanship and of good cigarette-making too.

KNOWING WHAT SMOKERS WANT—and giving it to them in fullest measure—that's the sound basis on which Chesterfield's popularity has been built.

GOOD TOBACCOS, accurately blended—cigarettes of uniformly good quality and satisfying taste; no wonder that every day sees more and more smokers changing to this skillful blend of quality tobaccos... for mildness and for better taste.

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price. LUCKY & WETZEL TOBACCO CO.
